An efficient and inexpensive bus and train transport system has been developed in Freiburg and surrounding areas during the last decades. All 20 public transport companies operating in the town and the region are collaborating in the integrated network system Regio-Verkehrsbund Freiburg (RVF). In the urban area alone, Freiburg's Transit Authority (VAG) runs five municipal tram lines and 20 bus routes as a comfortable and inexpensive means for customers to arrive at their travel destination. The RVF-area is divided in three zones or fare stages. More information about the division into zones is available at www.rvf.de/RVF-Gebiet.php.

These days, image factors are important for the economic and tourist appeal of a city. Freiburg has gained an international reputation in such fields as solar engineering, traffic and transport policy, as well as environment and climate protection. Freiburg's pioneering and model projects have been rewarded with prizes and high visitor numbers to such groundbreaking constructions as the world's first energy self-sustaining solar building, the Heliotrope, the solar village created by the solar architect Rolf Disch, or the zero-energy houses of the Vauban neighborhood – and the world's first football stadium with its own solar plant.

Shopping in Freiburg

A stroll through the lively old town of Freiburg is very worthwhile. Here, alongside large stores and specialised shops you will also find fashion boutiques, perfumeries, jewellery shops, book shops, art and antiques stores, and toy or leather stores. In one of the many souvenir shops you are guaranteed to find a postcard that captures Freiburg's charm perfectly.

Numerous side streets, or "Gässle", divert from the main shopping street and invite you to explore the historical and culinary side of Freiburg. The typical Freiburg streams, or "Bächle", are sure to catch your attention; this network of tiny open canals runs through the entire city.

Stroll through the weekly market located on Münsterplatz and visit the colourful booths on the Franziskanerstrasse, where North African and Indian goods are on sale, or stroll through the large shopping arcades like the Black Forest City (Schwarzwald City - Schiffstrasse) the Karlsbaupassage/ Karlsbau arcade (Karlsplatz) and the Bursengang (Rathausgasse).

These shopping streets are worth visiting

- Kaiser-Joseph-Straße

"Kajo" is the Freiburg's main shopping mall - a car-free boulevard with a variety of jewelers, fashion stores, sports-wear retailers, shops selling exquisite porcelain, and three large department stores. More shopping passages, lanes and streets branch off from here.

- Salzstraße

Salzstrasse leads past leather, jewelry and fashion stores to Augustinerplatz, where you will encounter the glass vault of the "atrium", a passage with numerous fashion and culinary attractions.

- Obere Altstadt, Oberlinden

Here you will find a variety of smaller shops which offer everything from art supplies to jewelry and ladies' and men's fashion.

- Konviktstraße

Dealers in antiques are primarily located on Konviktstrasse, a street with its narrow medieval houses. Besides, this is where you will find textile art and elegant boutiques.

- Schusterstraße

Here you will find a rich supply of leather ear, antique books, art pieces and much more!

- Bertoldstraße

Bertoldstrasse leads past bookshops, the town theatre, and Cinemaxx Movie Palace.

- Rathausgasse

In Rathausgasse you will find gold and silver goods, fashion and shoes.

- Grünwälderstraße

In Grünwälderstrasse you will find Freiburg's "Market Hall". Where printing machines once used to rotate, more than 20 enterprises offer an international range of foods, apart from select champagnes, fresh fish, and vegetables.

- Gerberau und Fischerau

These two parallel streets invite you to stroll and linger. Hotels, restaurants and myriad small boutiques can be found here.

Wood Rope Garden Freiburg

As the name indicates, Waldseilgarten (Wood Rope Garden) lies in the middle of Mooswald in Freiburg's town district of Rieselfeld. In addition, the rope elements are integrated into the natural population of growing trees. The ample constructions offer a combination of high-wire elements and ground stations of various types and difficulties. For example, a balance beam can be crossed in lofty heights. A gigantic cable railway line leads past the crowns of American red-oak trees. The whole group crosses a "swamp" on the ground, or climbs through a spider's web. The adventure education events promote social competences, for example, responsibility, capacity for teamwork, conflict-handling skills, or competence in making decisions. The Seilgarten is opened for individual events only. You will receive a personal quotation on request.
